

ABOUT INTERNET FOR LAWYERS

Since 1999, Internet For Lawyers has provided local and state Bar Associations around the country with professional and entertaining turn-key CLE programs for their members. Our seminars are popular with attendees and the substantial revenue those seminars generate is popular with our Bar partners. We also provide in-house training seminars for law firms, as well as working with selected training companies.

Our programs focus on teaching legal professionals how to use the Internet and technology to practice law and research more efficiently and cost effectively. For each of these courses, we have also developed comprehensive custom-written materials.

While we primarily offer all-day seminars, some Bar associations choose to market two separate half-day seminars to offer their members maximum flexibility. So on this Web site, we have outlined four, half-day modules that can be mixed and matched to create full-day programs.

We also work with our Bar partners to generate additional income for them after our in-person seminars. Unlike some professional speakers, we work with our partners to videotape our live seminars. For example, the Alaska and Wisconsin Bars and Minnesota and Virginia CLE have generated additional income from our seminars by offering video replays of our seminars in several cities. The Alaska Bar also sells the video and related written seminar materials to individual attorneys and paralegals. Virginia CLE has generated a third revenue stream by adding our printed materials and our Virginia-customized CD-ROM to their publications advertising.

Audio versions of live seminars can also generate additional income for our partners from attorneys who prefer to earn their credits while driving.
