

BOOK HELPS ANYONE LOCATE BACKGROUND INFORMATION ON INDIVIDUALS AND LEGAL RESEARCH INFORMATION FREE ON THE INTERNET

The Cybersleuth's Guide to the Internet Written in 'Plain English': Organized the Way Researchers Need to Find Information

Albuquerque, NM (June 30, 2008) – The popular Internet research manual The Cybersleuth's Guide to the Internet has been completely updated and expanded. The new 9th edition features extensive reviews of the best investigative and legal research resources available for free on the Internet. Unlike others guides which present sites as little more than a list of links, this book offers tips on how to effectively use those sites and includes over 100 screen-shots to illustrate the step-by-step usage of many of the sites discussed.

The new 9th edition, has 40 pages of new information over the 8th edition. Each Web resource discussed in the book has been re-tested and its description updated, as have nearly all of the book's screen shots. The new 9th edition also boasts a new chapter covering free and low-cost "Technology Tools & Tips" that legal professionals can use in their practices and has also been expanded to include the newest Internet research resources such as Justia and social networking sites.

Even with all of this added information, users can still easily find the web sites they're looking for by jurisdiction, topic (e.g. Employment, Labor, or Tax Law resources), or by Web site name, by using the guide's comprehensive index. Despite growing by nearly 20% over the previous edition — there is no increase in price.

"Anyone can benefit from using The Cybersleuth's Guide to the Internet, regardless of their previous Internet usage. This guide is a useful tool for every legal professional, legal educator, law student, business person, or consumer handling their own legal or investigative matter," said Carole Levitt, the book's co-author. "For the beginning searcher, it covers many overlooked features of Web browsers, the 'mechanics' of navigating the Internet, and basic research strategies and tools. For 'power searchers,' it covers more advanced search strategies and reveals tips and tricks for getting the most out of many of the sites."

"Whether you're a business person or a legal professional, keeping pace with rapidly changing resources on the Internet can give you a leg up on your competition," continued co-author Mark Rosch. "The content of the 9th edition has been tested and re-checked immediately prior to publication to insure it's as current as possible."

The cover price of The Cybersleuth's Guide to the Internet is $59.95. Quantity discounts are available on purchases of 10 or more copies from the publisher's web site (<http://www.iflpress.biz>).

Carole Levitt and Mark Rosch are nationally recognized authors and speakers about the Internet. In 1999, they formed Internet For Lawyers (IFL) and have been training professionals in cooperation with corporations, law firms, legal associations, adult education schools, library schools, and library associations nationwide ever since. In addition to this book, they are also co-authors of two editions of The Lawyer's Guide to Fact Finding on the Internet published by the American Bar Association's (ABA) Law Practice Management Section and they co-edit the Internet Fact Finding for Lawyers newsletter published by ALI-ABA. They have also created online Continuing Legal Education courses based on their books, available at http://www.netforlawyers.com/online_mcle.htm.

Levitt and Rosch are available to corporations, law firms, and associations for live, in-person seminars to teach the topics covered in their books. For more information about the authors' schedules, visit <http://www.netforlawyers.com>. For information about live seminars based on their books, including a list of previous clients, visit <http://www.liveCLEseminars.com>.

###

Press Contact:
Internet For Lawyers
Mark Rosch
310/559-1632

High-resolution image of book's cover available at:
[http://www.cybersleuthsguide.com/
9780971325739-500.jpg](http://www.cybersleuthsguide.com/9780971325739-500.jpg)

ISBN: 978-0-9713257-3-9
Format: Paperback, 330pp
Publisher: IFL Press
Edition Number: 9
Cover Price: $59.95